

Endress+Hauser Learning Portal

Frequently Asked Question #2

How do I create a learner account in the portal?

Rev. 1.0 July 2018

For Customers wanting to attend Endress+Hauser Training, there is a simple process to follow.

As of April 2018, Endress+Hauser has a new online Learning Portal for customers to use. This new Learning Management System (LMS) is a single platform that combines both online learning modules with the activities for Classroom training into one portal.

Combining these provides many advantages for the customer to maintain a learner account and all E+H learning records in one place.

The instructions to follow are for the Customers wanting to create a new account in the LMS

Go to the online page <http://www.us.endress.com/online-training>

Click here to ENROLL or LOGIN to your account!

Click on the big RED button

That will take you from our website to the Learning Portal

If you don't have an account, click Create Your Own Account to start the process of setting up your personal information. This is not an Automatic process as E+H must approve your account, so there could be a delay of a few hours on normal business days before you receive an email informing you that you can now access the portal.)

You will be notified when your account is approved and then you will be able to login.

If you are not entering the Learning Portal directly from our website you can always use the CUSTOMER Login page – link below – and land on the homepage shown above
