

Endress+Hauser Conducta recognized as top employer

Endress+Hauser Group liquids specialist revels in the BestPersAward and Top Job seal

Endress+Hauser Conducta received two awards in February 2019 in recognition of its modern personnel activities. The company was the overall winner in the BestPersAward, a German business competition, as well as a recipient of the Top Job seal of quality for employer excellence.

With the awards, the specialist for liquid analysis within the Endress+Hauser Group demonstrated exemplary personnel activities that place people and the corporate culture center stage. "The awards give our team recognition for their work and help us to project an image as an attractive employer both internally and externally," says Stephan-Christian Köhler, Director Human Resources and Company Communication at Endress+Hauser Conducta.

BestPers: trend-setting personnel activities

Apart from being the overall winner in the BestPersAward, Endress+Hauser Conducta also came out on top in the HR digital, HR controlling and personnel development categories. In the biennial competition, the University of Siegen recognizes exemplary human resources activities, using strict standards and scientific evaluation methods to select the winners in accordance with their professionalism and vision.

Second place at Top Job

Endress+Hauser Conducta furthermore placed second in the 500+ employee category as a recipient of the Top Job seal, which was awarded by former German Minister for Economic Affairs Wolfgang Clement in Berlin. The company was recognized for its flat hierarchies, interdisciplinary cooperation, innovative project platforms and modern web-based tools. The Top Job award is built around a scientific-based employee survey carried out each year by the University of St. Gallen in Switzerland.

Leader in liquids analysis

Endress+Hauser Conducta is one of the world's leading providers of measurement instruments and complete systems for liquid analysis. The company's intelligent solutions help customers in the environmental and process industries operate their systems in a safe, reliable, economic and environmentally friendly manner.
